Mr. Ayling, of the local store was a recent visitor in town.

The Ladies Aid of Kirriemuir will hold their Annual Fowl Supper, this week, on Friday Oct. 28th. There will also be a social evening.

We are sorry to hear that Miss Conrad, of Viewland, had to undergo an operation, up in Edmonton. This was for complications which set in after an attack of scarlet fever. So far her progress is reassuring.

The service at B. Brocklesby's was very well attended and thoroughly enjoyed. The next service will be held at Mrs. A. Baxter's. There will also be a Baptismal Service, on Nov. 6.

Mr. Fish, Sen., has erected a small barn.

Palmetta Rice wishes to assure everybody of the two important functionaries, working very evenly.

The Elocution Contest has been postponed.

Fire, from an unknown origin, destroyed Bob Lay's barn last Thursday night. When discovered the fire had gained too much headway to check it and the building and contents were a total loss. A team of horses, a calf, 600 lbs of oats, about 5000 sheaves, harness, etc., were lost in the fire, and the total loss is placed at $1500.

Selmer Lukens and Lillian Goulson were married, on Monday, at Coronation by the Rev. Mr. Satre.

L. Seeman will dispose of his stock, machinery, etc., on Nov. 16th, by public auction.

Recess & Intermission

We note that at the recent Teacher's Convention, one of the Inspectors, Mr. Yule of Castor, gave a practical illustration of organizing a school for the purpose of sport. This was an appropriate discussion, no doubt.

The discipline of a school, when we attended, was a failure or success according to the attitude of the teacher in regard to this question. Disturbances in the order of the school nearly always arose on the playgrounds. Now-a-days the play is supposed to be under the eye of the teacher, and we are pleased to note that our school board are making a beginning in the way of equipment. Teeters, swings and foot ball have already been provided. The school should be made the centre of the sports for the young people so that the young lady teachers of the community might have an opportunity of playing some of their college and high school games with our school girls. The advantages would be mutual.

Two other papers on the program attracted our attention. One by Mrs. H. Shannon on Composition, and one on School Fairs by Miss Hargrove. Both were favorably commented on.

The School is the index of the progress of any community. Our columns are always open for items of interest connected with the teachers and schools throughout the whole district served by Monitor.

Let us have the news.

Over 100 teachers attended the Convention which was held in Coronation last week. A most enjoyable time was had by all those present. A social evening and dance was held on Friday. W. F. Hargrove was chairman and gave an address.

Halloween Dance Oct. 31st.

We are now receiving a full line of all the latest Magazines.

We carry a full line of the famous Guaranteed Waterman Fountain Pens.

We will have the largest Display of Xmas Goods ever shown in Monitor, and will have it ready in a few weeks.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. R. Currie, south of town, was the scene of a pretty, though quiet, wedding on Wed. of this week when C. O. (Pat) Stewart and Miss M. B. Currie were united in marriage by Rev. R. Davidge. The bride was given away by her brother, Ross, and was attended by Miss R. Cameron. The bride was becomingly attired in white organde and carried a bouquet of white roses. The groom was attended by Hugh MacDonald, and the ceremony was concluded by a splendid turkey dinner with full trimmings. At the close of the dinner the customary toasts were given, the young couple were again congratulated and the happy company dispersed, the neighbors and friends to their various abodes, and the bride and groom for points west. On their return they will reside on their farm south-west of town.

Card of Thanks

We wish to take this opportunity of thanking our friends for their help and sympathy during our recent bereavement. Mrs. McKenzie, J. H. and Mrs. Blair.

Canada Needs Population

Although the results of the census of Canada taken in June last have not yet been officially announced, sufficient information is available to establish the fact that the figures of population are going to prove highly disappointing to those people who, basing their calculations on the yearly return of immigrants entering the Dominion, had expectations of seeing a very substantial increase in the number of people in Canada.

Each recurring decennial census in Canada brings the same disappointment. Between one census and the next, hundreds of thousands, yes, millions of immigrants are reported as having entered the Dominion. The vital statistics likewise report the fact that the number of births exceed deaths by many more hundreds of thousands. Yet when the census is taken the people which are supposed to be here, and presumably ought to be here, are not in evidence. They came here but they have disappeared. The question which demands an answer is: Where have they gone, and why?

The Canadian Council of Agriculture, which has been giving some study to this problem, in a statement recently made public, points out that, according to the returns of the Department of Immigration, no less than 1,812,356 immigrants came to this country between April 1, 1911, and March 31, 1921, which corresponds with the census period; also that during this same period births in Canada exceeded deaths by 1,110,000. In other words, that from these two sources there should be an increase in Canada's population of 2,922,356, which would bring the 1911 census of population of 7,206,643 up to 10,128,999. As a matter of fact it is now confidently predicted that the census of 1921 will not show nine million people, and possibly not many more than 8,500,000.

On all sides the statement is heard that Canada needs a larger population; that the future of its railways, the ability to carry and ultimately pay off the huge national debt, depends upon the development of its natural resources, and that such development can only be brought about by a large influx of people to do the necessary work. The need for a strong, aggressive immigration policy is, therefore, urged. True, there are a few voices raised in opposition to such a policy, but they are in a minority.

The writer of this column agrees that such an immigration policy is necessary, and that Canada's efforts to secure settlers of the right type should not be spasmodic, but permanent, well organized and continuous. But in the light of past immigration returns, reports of vital statistics, and census takings, it is apparent that something more than getting people to come to Canada is needed. The adoption of policies that will keep them here seems to be required above everything else.

If Canada cannot retain its native-born sons and daughters it is idle to expect new people to come and stay here. Clearly there is something wrong somewhere. If our native-born had remained at home, and if we had retained the large percentage of incoming immigrants during the past quarter of a century, Canada's population today would be double what it is, and, like compound interest, the future increase would be rapid.

Party politics can find no place for discussion in this column. There are plenty of forums for the discussion of such politics, but this is not one of them. But policies in the broad meaning of the term—that is, the science and business of government as distinct from party organization, shibboleths and particular policies—have a proper place here. In fact, no good citizen or true patriot can properly neglect them.

It is our conviction, then, that while Canada does need the most wide-awake, progressive and aggressive immigration policy that can possibly be devised, and that full advantage should now be taken of the opportunity which presents itself throughout the world owing to the desire of millions of people to emigrate from the old world countries, the first step in the framing of Canada's immigration policy should be a determination of the causes of the drift of people away from Canada, native-born and immigrants.

There is a cause for it, or a combination of causes. The cause should be ascertainable, and once ascertained it ought to be possible to apply a remedy and remove the cause. Every manufacturer, financier, railway operator, merchant, professional man, artisan and farmer is interested, and vitally interested in this problem. The application of the needed remedy might upset many preconceived ideas and destroy long accepted and time honored policies. But what of it, if those ideas and policies are the cause of Canada's loss?

Suppose some cherished policy of the manufacturers on the one hand, or the farmers on the other hand, had to go by the board, would they not both be the gainers by adding millions to the population? Imagine what it would mean to Canada's manufacturers today if all the immigrants and native-born between 1911 and 1921 were in Canada now. What a domestic market in which to sell their goods. And what a relief in taxation, and in improved facilities for the farmer would result if the Dominion's population was between ten and fifteen millions instead of less than nine millions!

The need of population is Canada's greatest need. It is the outstanding national issue. In it is bound up all other issues and through its solution practically all other problems will be solved.

Alberta's Grain Capacity

Large Storage Elevators Are Found in Many Towns.

The average grain capacity per station for the whole of the Province of Alberta amounts to over 110,000 bushels, as compared with 89,000 bushels for Saskatchewan, and 55,000 bushels for Manitoba. The largest country storage elevator is at Vegreville, Alberta, with a capacity of 475,000 bushels, although Verigin in Saskatchewan runs a good second with a capacity of 440,000 bushels. Alberta towns are uniformly possessed of large storage facilities; Youngstown has space for 384,000 bushels, Barons 373,000 bushels, Campanage 320,000 bushels and Blackie 290,000 bushels.

When Your Appetite Fails This Is What You Need

When the very thought of eating makes you feel dizzy, when you're run down, stomach in bad shape—you need a real housecleaning with Dr. Hamilton's Pills. They tone up the liver, assist the stomach and improve digestion. The taste becomes aware of new flavors in food you never noticed before. You'll look and feel a whole lot better after using Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Many folks used this fine old remedy and nothing else and kept in the pink of condition all the time. 25c at all dealers or The Catarrh-Booze Co., Montreal.

A Scotch cabman, according to the London Sunday Express, was driving an American millionaire around Edinburgh. He stopped suddenly, and with a wave of his whip, announced, "That is John Knox's house." "Who is John Knox?" asked the American. The cabman was dumbfounded. After a pause he blurted out: "But, do you never read your Bible, mon?"

Growing Hemp in Manitoba

First Year's Crop Will Be Five Hundred Tons.

The hemp crop of Manitoba for 1921, the first year that it has been cultivated extensively, will be large, according to a Winnipeg company, under whose direction farmers in the Province seed and sow the hemp. Five hundred tons will be realized, it is estimated, and at Portage la Prairie, 200 acres were under cultivation. More than 400 acres have been sown to hemp in the Swan River district.

Auto Industry in Saskatchewan.

Expansion of the automobile industry in Saskatchewan is illustrated by statistics which have been compiled by the Provincial Government for the first eight months of 1921. The number of licenses issued for private cars was 59,464; motor cycles 325; trucks 1,747.

Contracts Let For Irrigation Scheme

Experts Say It Presents Few Engineering Difficulties.

Contracts have been let for the construction of the United Irrigation district, which when completed will make possible the irrigation of about fifteen thousand acres of fertile farm lands about forty miles southwest of Lethbridge. Irrigation experts who have been over this district say they have never met with any scheme of its size that presents fewer engineering difficulties. It is hoped to have the works completed in time for the irrigation of 1923.

The Oil of the People.—Many oils have come and gone, but Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil continues to maintain its position and increase its sphere of usefulness each year. Its sterling qualities have brought it to the front and kept it there, and it can truly be called the oil of the people. Thousands have benefited by it and would use no other preparation.

Dyed Her Skirt To Make Child a Dress

Each package of "Diamond Dyes" contains directions so simple any woman can dye or tint her old, worn, faded things new. Even if she has never dyed before, she can put a new, rich color into shabby skirts, dresses, waists, coats, stockings, sweaters, coverings, draperies, hangings, everything. "Diamond Dyes"—no other kind—tint perfect home dressing is guaranteed. Ask your druggist whether the material you wish to dye is wool or silk, or whether it is linen, cotton, or mixed goods. "Diamond Dyes" never streak, spot, fade, or run.

Careful Father.

Young Harold was late in attendance at Sunday School.

"I was going fishing, but father wouldn't let me," announced the lad.

"That's the right kind of a father to have," replied the reverend gentleman.

"Did he explain why he would not let you go?"

"He said there wasn't bait enough."

Sores Flee Before It.—There are many who have been afflicted with sores and have driven them away with Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. All similarly troubled should lose no time in applying this splendid remedy, as there is nothing like it to be had. It is cheap, but its power is in no way expressed by its low price.

Emphatic.

A sentimental youth, who had been suffering for some time from severe love-sickness, arrived one morning at the office looking the picture of abject misery. "What's the matter?" asked his employer. "I can scarcely tell you," he faltered. "I—I have at last proposed—and I have been rejected." "Tut-tut," said the employer cheerfully. "It will turn out all right in the end. A woman's 'No' often means 'Yes.'" "Perhaps it does," was the sorrowful reply. "But this woman didn't say 'No.' She said 'Rats!'"

WHAT TO DO FOR STOMACH TROUBLE

Good Advice From One Who Had Suffered Much.

Nine-tenths of all forms of indigestion or so-called stomach trouble are not due to the condition of the stomach at all, but are caused by other influences. The great contributing cause of indigestion is thin blood. Good blood and plenty of it is required by the stomach to take care of the food. If the blood is thin the stomach functions sluggish, food lies undigested, gas forms and causes pains in various parts of the body. Instead of getting nourishment from the blood the system gets poison.

Relief from this condition can be obtained by the tonic treatment which Mr. D. Shaw, M.T. Stewart, P.E.I., tried and now warmly recommends to others. Mr. Shaw says: "I suffered from indigestion for over four years, and have tried many of the well-known remedies for such troubles, but never obtained more than temporary relief. The trouble was aggravated by constipation setting in owing to the stomach failing to do its work, and laxatives only gave relief to the bowels and left the stomach in worse condition. The result was my blood was growing more and more anemic, and I did not sleep well at night and was growing dependent. I was in this wretched condition when a friend advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I got three boxes and by the time they were finished there was some change for the better. I was greatly encouraged and I continued taking the pills for some three months, by which time my stomach was all right again, my blood good, nerves strong and life was again worth living. My advice to all who suffer from stomach trouble is to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial." Dr. Williams' Pink Pills can be obtained through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Paris, Ont.—"For five years I suffered from pains caused by displacement of my organs and in my last year of this time I was unfit for work and was taking different medicines. I recommend it to others, and give you permission to publish this letter in your little books and in the newspapers as a testimonial."

Success of Grande Prairie Pioneer.

Henry Robertson, one of the pioneers of the Grande Prairie, Alta., district, some twelve miles west of the city, expects to thresh from fifteen to eighteen thousand bushels of wheat this season, making his twelfth consecutive bumper crop here. His yield per acre during this period has never dropped below twenty-five bushels, and has run as high as fifty.

Corn and Sunflower Crop Good. Forty new silos have been erected by farmers in the surrounding country this year, which are all now filled with sunflowers and corn. Sunflowers in yield have averaged more than twelve tons to the acre and the corn crop has been the best ever harvested in Southern Alberta.

THINK IT OVER

Why not spend a winter at the Youngstown School of Agriculture? The term opens on October 27th, a time when all the farm work for the year is about completed. This course, without any doubt, offers the best opportunity ever given farm boys and girls to obtain a practical education.
The school term only occupies the slack months on the farm.
The courses are free. Boarding and rooming accommodations are arranged for by the school management. Rates this year will be very reasonable, coming at about one dollar per day. A dormitory is being operated for girl students and will be run at cost.

The farm in connection with the School maintains a good selection of stock for judging purposes and for demonstrating feeding and housing methods.
The experimental work carried on at the School during the summer affords the best and most up to date information on crops and cropping methods.
Also the School is equipped for the teaching of the elementary agricultural sciences.

Now, more than ever before,
the business of farming requires carefully trained men and women. Nothing but expert knowledge equips a man to win success in agriculture today. There never has been a greater demand for trained men than at the present time.
The uncertain conditions and the values of all farm products at present make it essential that the farmer be equipped with all possible available knowledge concerning the principles of crop production and marketing.

Why not be equipped to make the best of your efforts and what is more essential to the future farmer than an agricultural training? Give the boy and girl a chance and reap the benefits in satisfaction, improved farming methods and in added prosperity.

Write the Principal, School of Agriculture, Youngstown, regarding the course.

The Homesteaders

— BY —
ROBERT J. C. STEAD

Published By Special Arrangement With the Author.

"I didn't know it," she protested. I don't believe either Beulah or Jim had any such thought in their head. But even if they did, Jim Travers is as decent a young man as there is in Plainville district, and you've nothing to be ashamed of except your own temper, that drove them away in the way they went."

"I won't listen to that kind of talk from you any longer," said Harris sternly. "I'll chase the young reproaches to earth, till it takes all summer. And unless you can clear yourself of being mixed up in this—well, there'll be something to settle on that score, too." Hitch up the drivers, Allan, and be quick about it."

"You're not going to leave your ploughing, are you?" asked his wife. The words sprang to her lips without any misgiving. It was such an unusual thing for her husband, on any account, to leave the farm work unfinished. The practice on the Harris homestead was work first, all other considerations second.

"That's enough of your sarcasm," he snapped. "I would think when our name is threatened with a disgrace like this you would be as anxious to defend it as I am. How it is you go back on me in a moment like this? You're not the woman you once were, Mary."

"And you're not the man you once were, John," she answered. "Oh, can't you see that we're just repining what has been sown—the crop we've been raising through all these years? Beulah's very life has been crying out for action, for scope, for room, for something that would give her a reason for existence, that would put a purpose into her life, and we've not tried to answer that cry. I blame myself as much as you, John, perhaps more, because I should have read her heart—I should have seen the danger signals long ago. But I was so busy, I didn't think. That's the trouble, John, we've been so busy, both of us, we haven't taken time to keep up with her. The present generation is not the past; what was enough for you and me isn't enough for our children. It doesn't do any good to scold—scolding doesn't change conditions; but if we'd stopped and thought and studied over them we might have changed them—or cured them. We didn't, John; you were too busy with your wheat and your cattle, and I was too busy with my housework, and together we have made it off. We've gathered some property together, and our acres have grown in proportion, but that which was ours to us that all the property in the world we have lost—because we valued it less." The tears were slowly coursing down her cheeks, and her thin, work-worn arms were stealing about his neck. "Don't think, dear," she whispered. "I'm indifferent, or that this hurts me less than you, or that I would shield myself from one iota of my just blame, but let us face the fact that it has been our mistake rather than Beulah's."

He removed her arms, not ungraciously. "I never thought it would come to this," he said. "I thought I humoured her every way I could. As for our hard work—well, work makes money, and I noticed Beulah could spend her share. There was no protesting about the work that earned the money when she wanted a new hat or a new dress, and she generally got what she wanted."

"You don't understand, John. It wasn't the work, it was the making a god of work, and giving it so much of our lives that there was none left for her. That's why she looked somewhere else—if she had looked somewhere else."

"Allan works as hard and harder than Beulah did, and Allan doesn't feel that way about it."

"That's true," she admitted, "but Allan's ambition is work. He works and is satisfied, but Beulah thinks, and is not satisfied. It's the difference in their nature, and we didn't take it into consideration." In every phrase she tried to link his blame with hers, that the burden might unite instead of separate them.

"It she'd thought a little more before she took that step, it would have been better for everybody," he said. "Well, she'll have plenty of time to think now. He stepped to the kitchen door, and from the mail above took down the repeating rifle."

"You're not going to take that!" she cried. "I take that, John. It can't possibly do any good, and it may do a lot of harm."

"I won't do anything foolish," he answered, "but I'll take it along, just the same."

Allan, with the drivers harnessed to the top buggy, was now at the door. Without saying good-bye to his wife Harris joined him, and the two set off on their search. Almost at the gate they met George Grant, who had come over to haul water for another day's ploughing. He stopped in some surprise at the turnout.

"I guess we won't be ploughing to-day," said Harris. He hesitated before George's questioning look, and a certain sense of family shame came upon him. But it was evident that he could hardly search for Beulah without mentioning her departure, and he might as well make a clean breast of the affair.

"Nothing wrong at home, I hope, Mr. Harris?" said the young neighbor, noting his troubled appearance. "Nobody sick, or anything?"

"Yes, there is something wrong," said Harris, trying vainly to control the bitterness in his voice. "Beulah's left us."

"Who, Beulah? I can hardly believe that, Mr. Harris. It was only last night I was talking with her."

"Well, she's gone. Left through the night. We—well, I'll tell you; George—we had a little disagreement, but I'd no notion she'd take it so much to heart. Of course you know about the trouble with Jim yesterday. Taking everything together—there won't be no ploughing to-day." Harris had said more than he meant; he could feel the colour mounting into his hair, and the bad English of his last words betrayed a subtle recklessness rather than carelessness of speech.

"Don't you believe a word of it," said George. "I know Jim, and I know Beulah, and if anybody else hinted what you've said you'd want to use that rifle on them. Like enough Beulah's staying somewhere around the neighbourhood, and she'll be back when she has time to think it over."

"That proves you don't know Beulah," said Allan. "As for Jim, I was never able to get below that smile, I saw more of him than you did, George."

"Hell, I hope you find a way out," said George, sincerely. "It would have been like her to come over to our place, but she isn't there. Maybe you'll find her at Morrison's."

"That's possible," said Harris. "Well go over there, anyway."

But Morrison's knew no more of Beulah's whereabouts than did George, and inquiry at other homes in the neighborhood was equally futile. Harris shrunk from carrying his search into the town, as he dreaded the publicity that would be attached to it. He was a subscriber, somewhat in arrears, to the local paper, and by calling on the editor and squaring up for a year in advance he could probably make himself solid in that quarter, but the gossip of the villagers could not be silenced by any such simple method. But as the day wore on and the search continued fruitless he finally found himself in Plainville.

If Beulah and Jim were really married the Presbyterian minister would be likely to know something of the matter, and the Rev. Andrew Guthrie was a man of sense and discernment. Harris had frequently come to hear him preach before the labours of the farm had grown to their present magnitude, and he even yet contributed five dollars a year to the stipend.

Mr. Guthrie received his guest cordially, albeit with some wonderment as to which member of the family might be sick, but, after a few direct questions, he learned that Harris must be the due amount of verbal skirmishing, reconnoitering, and out-flanking before the main purpose was revealed. Consequently, Harris, for all his torture of suspense, spent some minutes in a discussion of the weather, the crops, and the prospect of a labour shortage in the harvest.

"They'll be all well at home, I hope," said Mr. Guthrie at length, feeling that the custom of the community had been sufficiently honoured.

"Yes, all that's there," said Harris. "All that's there? I didn't know any of your folks were away. Perhaps Mrs. Harris is down East? I'm sure a summer amid the orchards of her old home would be a delight to her, and, of course, Mr. Harris, you are able to gratify yourself in these little matters now. Things are not what they were in the early days, Jack, when I preached in Tom Morrison's log-house, and you led the bass at the services. I'll warrant that voice of yours could sing yet if you gave it a chance."

Harris received these remarks with a mixture of feelings. The minister's reference to his financial standing carried with it a certain gratification, but it consorted poorly with his recent conversations with his wife and with his present mission.

"And Beulah," continued the minister, conscious that his first shot had gone wild. "She's a fine young woman now. I see her in church occasionally. In fact, I was speaking with Mrs. Durbin, the choir leader, a day or so ago, and Beulah's name was mentioned between us."

"It was about Beulah I came to see you," said Harris, with averted eyes. Then in a few words he gave his version of what he knew and what he suspected.

"I fear I can add nothing to your information," said Mr. Guthrie. "They haven't been here, and, as you say, if Beulah comes to Plainville I think she would have called on me. Travers, too, I knew a little, and thought he was a steady fellow. But we must find the girl and talk this over quietly with her. Is there any place in town she would be likely to go to? What about the boarding-house? I will just call up on the telephone. I can make inquiry without the necessity of any explanations."

Inquiry at the house of Mrs. Goode brought a strong ray of light out of the darkness. Beulah had been there during the morning, and had explained that she was leaving on the west-bound train, which even now was thudding at the station. On learning this, without a word, Harris sprang into the buggy, while Allan brought a sharp cut of the whip across the spirited horses. They reached the railway station half a minute late; the train was already pulling out, and as Harris's eyes followed it in anger and vexation they plainly saw Jim Travers swing lightly on to the rear platform.

With an oath the farmer reached for his rifle, but Allan wrenched it from his hands before any onlookers noted the action. "Don't be a fool," he whispered, and started the horses homeward.

CHAPTER X. Into The Farther West.

For the first time in his life Harris surrendered his purpose to the judgment of his son, and as they drove homeward along the dusty trail in the heat of the day the consciousness came home to him that Allan was right. To have used his gun would, of course, have been madness; he had never seriously intended doing anything so rash, although for one impetuous moment this passion had made him irresponsible. And, as he thought it at all over, he concluded that not to be gained by pursuit of the Remarkable Gain In Weight Reported By This Young Woman

"Before I began taking Tanlac I only weighed 76 pounds, I now weigh over one hundred and am gaining every day," said Miss La Rue Davis, of Chattanooga, Tenn. "I bought my first bottle of Tanlac at Gas City, Ind., and it helped me so much that I continued using it. I have always been very delicate and suffered a great deal from stomach trouble and rheumatism. I rarely ever had any appetite and simply could not rely anything. I fell on until I only weighed 76 pounds and was so thin I looked perfectly awful. This is the condition I was in when I began taking Tanlac. "Oh, I feel so different now. Even my complexion is improved. My appetite is good and I can hardly get enough to eat. Tanlac is simply grand and I can truthfully say it is the only medicine that has ever done me any good."

runways. There was only one west-bound train in the day; he could not give chase until the morning, and they would be able to lead him by twenty-four hours as long as he cared to keep up the pursuit. True, he might telegraph ahead to the police, but that met publicity, and would probably be ineffectual in the end. She had gone of her own free will, and although his heart hurt even under his anger, now that she had gone she might stay. She had left a good home, a fond father, and a share in the family estate for a hired man—and she might now make the best of her bargain. Harris assured himself, with absolute sincerity, that he had done his duty in the matter, and that in exchange for all his kindness his daughter had treated him very badly indeed. (To be continued)

British Premier Pleads For Understanding And Peace Among Nations

London.—In outlining the Government's proposal to alleviate unemployment, Mr. Lloyd George made the following declaration in the House of Commons:

"Peace and a good understanding among nations is vital. Let us get out of the atmosphere where if you talk about a German without a frown on your brow you are not a patriot. Trade cannot start in such an atmosphere. If you intervene to make peace, your motives are misunderstood; but if Great Britain will not do it, who will? We want to see the nations begin again the task of peace."

Mr. Lloyd George, referring to trade with Russia, said there had been no restrictions on the British side to trading, but that the total trade for the first eight months of the present year had been only £3,150,000, which showed there was not an unlimited field in Russia for British or any other enterprise.

In the debate following the Prime Minister's speech, Mr. Asquith said in his judgment the question of unemployment raised the necessity for re-consideration of the entire problem of international indebtedness, including the indebtedness of the Allies to one another, and the indebtedness of their late enemies to the Allies.

Pacific Naval Base Not Named

Premier Hughes Says It Will Not Be Singapore.

Melbourne.—Premier Hughes, speaking in the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth, said the question of a British naval base in the Pacific was discussed at the recent conference of the Empire and that a decision regarding it was reached. He added, however, that the base would not be at Singapore.

Premier Hughes' reference to Singapore may be taken in connection with an article in the London Daily Sketch reviving the rumor that Great Britain was preparing a new naval base in the Pacific and which stated it was intended to spend £2,000,000 in converting Singapore into a first-class station. The sketch added that if an agreement were reached at the Washington armament conference, the arrangement which included the creation of an alternative base of less importance in Australia, could be countermanded.

A Red Cross Appeal For Peace

Nations Asked to Join in Campaign Against Spirit of War.

In virtue of a higher law and duty, and of principles above the level of human passions, the helping hand of the Red Cross was stretched forth to all victims, throughout the ordeal of the Great War.

Today, the Red Cross owes it to itself and to all its many workers to proclaim as an ideal and a practical intention, a struggle against the horrors of war, an attempt by world-wide help and unselfishness definitely to abolish war.

The mere continuation of Red Cross activity in time of peace will no longer suffice. It is the wish of the Red Cross to work in the interest of peace.

Therefore, the Red Cross calls upon all wholehearted citizens, irrespective of nationality, religious belief, profession, or social rank, to join, as far as lies in their power in a systematic campaign against that spirit of war, which is a constant menace to the world's peace.

During five years, millions of men were killed or mutilated. Today, thousands of ex-soldiers or prisoners at last set free bear indelible marks of bodily and mental suffering. All of them believed that the generations to come would reap the fruits of the great ordeal in a new international life, which would be more brotherly, franker and more full.

Instead, disorder and uncertainty, distrust and greed, hatred and the threat of fresh quarrels are reappearing throughout the world. The spirit of war, unconquered, reigns supreme. Its sinister influence is evident. It inspires lines of policy and press campaigns, which lead public opinion astray and embitter the economic competition among nations.

During the terrible years of the recent war, superhuman efforts were required of the different nations. In order to inspire such sacrifices, a supreme reward was promised—namely, the annihilation of this same spirit of war, which is a peril as old as the world and a constant menace to mankind.

Thus generations yet unborn would have been delivered from the scourge at the price of the suffering which the war entailed. This hope sustained nations and armies.

Have they hoped in vain?

Have millions of human lives and the wealth of nations been sacrificed in vain?

Faced with these questions, the Red Cross recognized a duty.

At the suggestion of Senator Ciraolo, Chairman of the Italian Red Cross, the tenth International Red Cross Conference, which met at Geneva on April 1st, 1921, voted the following resolution:

"The International Committee of the Red Cross and the League of Red Cross Societies shall address an appeal to all nations, exhorting them to combat the spirit of war, which dominates the world."

These two organizations call therefore on nations and individuals to fight with all means in their power this malevolent spirit. May statesmen, writers, school and university, capital and labor remember that it is their duty, in the interest of mankind, to help peace to conquer the earth. Above all, children should be brought up in this fundamental belief.

It is essential that the human mind should once more be open to the broad lines of an internationalism, which, while allowing the citizen to love his town and the patriot his country, teaches all men to respect the existence and the rights of their fellows, by bringing into the daily life the individual light of a justice, which is to be in all the world for all the time.

This true internationalism cannot be attained without the active and intimate co-operation of governments, parliaments, voluntary organizations, the press, the clergy, and above all, National Red Cross Societies. To the union of these forces must be added a supreme factor, the power of individual conviction.

Every man, as far as lies in his power, must contribute to make peace permanent in the world.

The individual must no longer see the world in the light of his own selfishness, anger, fear and human passion, but in a spirit of concord and mutual aid.

Thus only can a better future be prepared.

Faithful to the ideal which inspired its founders, and which it has ever served, the Red Cross hereby declares before the whole world, that its work does not end with war. The Red Cross appeals to the heart of all mankind, that each individual may find in himself the needful strength and determination to make and keep universal peace.

Want Better Understanding British Ambassador to U.S. Makes Special Plea.

Red Springs, N.C.—Standing under the United States flag with the Union Jack to his right and the flag of Canada to his left, Sir Auckland Geddes, British Ambassador to the United States speaking before the Scottish Society of America in session here, made a plea for a better understanding of international problems by the people—the voters of the country—whom he styled as the real rulers in democratic countries.

Accept Wage Agreement

Chicago Plumbers and Carpenters Agree to End Strike.

Chicago.—Five thousand of the Journeymen Plumbers and Gas Fitters' Union, who have been on strike since the announcement of Judge Landis' wage award of $1 instead of $1.25 an hour, are returning to work under an agreement signed with the Master Plumbers' Association. Carpenters, who have been holding out for a wage scale of $1.25 an hour, now are returning to work at the Landis wage scale, unofficially it was said, though no contract has been signed.

Poisoned Candy Sent to Nurse.

Chicago.—An exhaustive search for the sender of a box of poisoned candy, responsible for the critical illness of six nurses at the West End Hospital, is being conducted by post office inspectors.

The box came through the mail and was addressed to a 17-year-old student nurse. It contained home made fudge, analysis of which was said to show that the deadly poison permeated all the candy.

Senate Ratifies Peace Treaties.

Washington.—The senate has ratified the treaty of peace with Germany, with the reservations reported by the foreign relations committee.

They also ratified the peace treaty with Austria by the same vote, and a similar peace treaty with Hungary, completing the administration's immediate peace programme with the former central powers.

Give your local merchants a chance. Buy at home.

Vancouver.—While an unlimited natural market for British Columbia fish exists in the prairie provinces of Canada, fishing interests on the Pacific coast have never been able to develop this market owing to the unfavorable railway freight tariffs between Pacific coast points to points in Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba. B. E. Burke, manager of Wallace Fisheries here, and the leading salmon fish canner, told the Board of Railway Commissioners.

Although the British Columbia product is within a comparatively short distance of the prairie markets, the foreign market has always been more accessible than the nearby domestic market, Mr. Burke declared. During the war enormous quantities of B.C. fresh sea fish were shipped to the prairie provinces but not before the Government paid 25 per cent. of the freight rate. When this bonus was withdrawn at the close of the war the shipments of fish to prairie points fell off to practically nothing and this Mr. Burke attributed to the high freight rates. He urged the elimination of the mountain scale of tariff in order that British Columbia industries might develop a home market.

Comparative freight rates as between Vancouver and Eastern points and Montreal to Western points submitted by Mr. Burke indicated that the British Columbia shipper must pay a freight rate of 97.2 per cent. higher. The value of fish production in British Columbia in 1920 was $22,329,161, or 45.3 per cent. of that produced in all Canada.

F. G. Evans, representing the fruit and vegetable canners of the province, said that the industry he represented suffered from the same discriminatory freight rates as other industries in British Columbia.

Express Messenger Robbed

About $30,000 Secured From C.P.R. Train No. 4.

Moose Jaw, Sask.—Investigation by officials of the Dominion Express Company established the fact that approximately $30,000 was secured when H. Bartle, express messenger on train No. 4, C.P.R., was held up by an unknown bandit in the vicinity of Swift Current. The police, it is believed, are working on the theory that more than one man was concerned in the holdup.

Officials of the Saskatchewan Provincial Police have been scouring the Province in the vicinity of Parkburg and Chaplin in quest of the bandit, or bandits. Inspector Goldsmith, with several police officers from Regina, has been directing the man-hunt, with Moose Jaw as headquarters.

A cordon of police has been thrown about the two suspected areas in the neighborhood of Chaplin and Parkburg, and police officers have been afield in an attempt to round up the marauder.

PAINFUL DIARRHOEA CRAMPS IN STOMACH

Mr. Fred Funston, Craik, Sask., writes:—"A year ago last harvest I was taken with sudden attack of diarrhoea which completely laid me out, and in a few hours I had to quit work. The cramps in my stomach were dreadful, but I had no prescription would stand out on my face at times I was in such great distress. At last I got a chance to send to town for a couple of bottles of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. I felt it according to the way I felt and soon obtained a great change for the better, for which I was very thankful. I don't know what the cause of my sickness was except the extremely hot weather and the active work of stooking the wheat."

Several of my neighbors were taken the same as myself and had the doctor attend them, but they didn't get any great relief until I advised them to use "Dr. Fowler's" when they soon experienced a great change. Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry has been on the market for the past 76 years and many cheap imitations are being offered to the public.

Note and Comment

When a great player sits at the piano and touches the keys, they respond with exquisite sweetness. As you listen and drink in the music, you realize it is good for the soul. There is joyful inspiration in every ringing note. You yield to unrestrained enjoyment.

There is always pleasure in watching the proficient man do his work, and noting the self-confidence with which he approaches it, whether he be an artist, a carpenter or a cobbler. He exhibits skill in his every movement, and this very skill of his sets him off as a master in his particular calling.

He has acquired dexterity by common-place work—by doing over and over again the difficult parts until no more difficulties remain.

Nothing worth while in life can be obtained except by continuously applied effort, which, in the basic sense is work—hard work, oft repeated.

Work is the key that unlocks the world's treasure chest. The pianist spends hours every day in practicing intricate passages; and so it goes with every man and woman who ultimately rises to distinction. The mistakes they make act as incentives for greater effort and more earnest work.

Work! work! work! That's the thing that wins. The diligent worker never admits defeat, never ceases exertion till he "arrives" at the top of the hill where success is waiting with out-stretched hands to confer honor and riches beyond his dreams.

It is sometimes argued that horses, because of an instinctive fear of mice and insects, rest and sleep largely while standing. Among domestic animals probably no habit is otherwise so inexplicable.

When turned out to pasture, horses are apt to spend more time lying down, but even at that they are said seldom to spend more than one hour a night recumbent. That hour is generally taken at midnight. It is not uncommon for people to express wonder at the quiet way many horses will stand, practically motionless for hours in one position. Few persons realize how complete is the relaxation obtained and to what an extent a horse is able to rest in a few hours of such repose. Stable men not infrequently tell of horses which they confidently declare never have slept, except on their feet in their lives. The trait is more marked in some horses than in others, but concerning the very short period a day many horses sleep off their feet there can be no question, as in all night livery stables there has been ample opportunity for continuous observation.

ON THE FUNNY SIDE

A reporter was misinformed, and the obituary of a live man appeared in the Daily Tribune. Of course, the live man was more or less indignant about the error, and rushing to the telephone, called up the editor. "I see in your dirty old sheet that I am dead," he snorted. "Yes," replied the editor. "Where are you speaking from?"

Lady Customer "I would like some powder, please."
Doc Larder "Yes, miss. Face tooth or bug?"

"The girls' basketball team," says the sporting page of a city daily, "will wear their new blouses on Thursday night. The bloomers have not yet arrived." This should bare investigation.

"In 1920," says the American Magazine, "we made 4 billion dollars trading with the rest of the world. But the same year we made 62 billion dollars trading among ourselves."

At this rate a married couple could make a million a year selling and re-selling their furniture to each other.

Lumber is Down

Yes, lumber is down—down to where a farmer can afford to build anything that can be made of lumber, even in the face of a low market on farm products.

Lumber was the last great commodity to go up and the first to come down.

Barn or House, or just some boards for fixing up around the place, the facts about lumber, will appeal to those who believe in thrift and know values.

YOU CAN GET 150 MORE FOR A BUSHEL OF WHEAT

That Is What You Can Do Provided You Take Advantage of Our Offer

We have made arrangements with the E. H. Heath Co. Limited who publish the CANADIAN POWER FARMER whereby we are able to offer that farm magazine together with our own weekly at the one price for both papers.

The CANADIAN POWER FARMER is Western Canada's biggest farm monthly. It is now in its twentieth year which means that it is thoroughly established throughout the West. It deals with the mechanical side of the farm. Every issue is full of helpful hints and experiences on the operation of all kinds of farm machinery from a washing-machine to a tractor. Its editor has just completed a trip of several months over Western Canada in a motor car for the purpose of studying the mechanical needs of the farmers. He visited the farmers, lived with them and worked with them. The results of his trip will appear during the next twelve months.

This offer may be withdrawn at any time. Without doubt your intention is to renew for this weekly, then why not take advantage now. Your subscription to this weekly together with a year's subscription to THE CANADIAN POWER FARMER for the same price as this weekly alone. This is where you make $1.50 on a bushel of wheat.

Mail your cheque or drop into our office the first time you are in town.

Fifty Chinese from different towns in the north of England have been deported at Liverpool. Many had spent liberal sums to enable their being smuggled into the United Kingdom.

Reuter's correspondent at Cape Town, South Africa, says it is officially announced that it has been decided, subject to certain formalities, to place the whole contract for the erection of thirty grain elevators with a Canadian firm.

W. S. Allard, Toronto, and F. Chapman Clemens, Regina, are the successful competitors in the Canadian and world memorial commission competition for designs for memorials to be erected on the principal Canadian battlefields in France and Flanders.

Liberty Is Britain's Binding Principle

Empire Based on Goodwill and a Common Understanding.

"The British Empire is a saving fact in a very distracted world. It is the most hopeful experiment in human organization which the world has yet seen. It is not so much that it combines men of many races, tongues, traditions and creeds in one system of Government. Other empires have done that. But the British Empire differs from all in one essential respect. It is based not on force but on goodwill and a common understanding. Liberty is its binding principle. Where that principle has not hitherto been applied it is gradually being introduced into the structure." "The opportune revelation supplied by the war of the unity of the British Empire has, in my judgment, altered the history of the world."—Lloyd George.

Mother! Move Child's Bowels With California Fig Syrup

Hurry mother. Even a sick child loves the "fruity" taste of "California Fig Syrup" and it never fails to open the bowels. A teaspoonful today may prevent a sick child tomorrow. If constipated, bilious, feverish, fretful, has cold, colic, or if stomach is sour, tongue coated, breath bad, remember a good cleansing of the little bowels is often all that is necessary. Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.

An Australian Bishop noticed in his congregation a strange face. A day or two later the Bishop met the stranger in the street, congratulated him upon his attendance at the cathedral, and added, "You don't live here, do you?" "No," said the stranger. "I live way back"—mentioning the name of the place.—"Have you many Episcopalians there?" inquired the Bishop. "No, sir," was the reply. "What are you mostly worried with is rabbits?"

Dust Causes Asthma. Even a little speck too small to see will lead to agonies which no words can describe. The walls of the breathing tubes contract and it seems as if the very life must pass. From this condition Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy brings a user to rest and health. It relieves the passages and normal breathing is established again.

To love and to be loved is our happiness. It is the foundation of life. Flowing from that source are many specific loves, but of these none are absolutely essential, although we are freely given of them all.

Good Yield of Marquis Wheat Near Lake Saskatchewan.

An average of thirty-five bushels of wheat per acre for the seven days' operations in which his outfit has been engaged is the report of Grant Bellanger, who has been operating a large threshing machine in the vicinity of Lake Saskatchewan. One field of Marquis wheat threshed sixty bushels to the acre, a field of oats one hundred and seven bushels, and a field of barley seventy-one.

THE FALL WEATHER HARD ON LITTLE ONES

Canadian fall weather is extremely hard on little ones. One day it is warm and bright and the next wet and cold. These sudden changes bring on colds, cramps and colic, and unless baby's little stomach is kept right the result may be serious. There is nothing to equal Baby's Own Tablets in keeping the little ones well. They awaken the stomach, regulate the bowels, break up colic and make baby thrive. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Estimate 25 Bushels to Acre.

Twenty-five bushels of wheat to the acre will be the average in the northern half of Alberta this year, according to a Government estimate issued.

Taffeta Frock For Informal Affairs

By Marie Belmont.

This attractive frock is fashioned from a very lovely piece of apricot colored taffeta. The bodice, which fits the figure snugly, is made in a low waisted style. The skirt shows a somewhat bouffant apron back and front. These aprons are scalloped about the edges and bound with China blue taffeta. The front of the dress is enriched with blue roses made of the taffeta. These are appliqued on the apron as well as on the bodice. A rather straight neckline tops this frock. The scalloped effect is apparent again on the cuff of the long slashed sleeve. A rose made of the blue taffeta ornaments the lower part of the sleeve.

Miller's Worm Powders act mildly and without injury to the child, and there can be no doubt of their deadly effect upon worms. They have been in successful use for a long time and are recognized as a leading preparation for the purpose. They have proved their power in numberless cases and have given relief to many children, who but for the good offices of this compound, would have continued weak and enfeebled.

One of the best known guides in Nova Scotia gives this testimonial of MINARD'S LINIMENT: "Have used Minard's Liniment in my home, hunting and lumber camps for years, and consider it the best white liniment on the market. I find that it gives quick relief to minor ailments, such as sprains, bruises and all kinds of wounds. Also it is a great remedy for coughs, colds, etc., which one is liable to catch when long driving and cruising during the winter and spring months. I would not be without MINARD'S LINIMENT and cannot recommend it too highly. (Signed) Ellison Gray."
